

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY MARCH 21.

Senator Ingalls is quoted as saying that the man who waits to see him apologizes for his reference to President Cleveland in his recent speech in the senate will have whippersnappers than the Emperor William's were when he took his last look from the palace at Berlin.

James W. Tate, the state treasurer of Kentucky, is reported to be a defaulter to the amount of $150,000 and to have fled the state. Tate, who has been state treasurer of Kentucky continuously for twenty-one years, has until now been regarded as "the cent of honor" among the Kentucky democrats.

The bill changing the public land laws of the country has been completed and reported to the house. As the bill now stands for action it provides that all public lands chiefly valuable for mineral deposits, namely, iron, coal, gold, silver, copper, lead, nickel and tin, and every contiguous 100 acres or less quantity thereof, in legal subdivisions, the greater part of which is unfit for cultivation, shall be classified as mineral lands and shall be disposed of under existing laws.

The Massachusetts state senate has voted in favor of a constitutional amendment establishing biennial elections of state officers and members of the legislature, but rejected a resolve providing that the legislature should meet only once in two years. Massachusetts and Rhode Island are the only states in which elections for governor are held annually. And in all the states except Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and South Carolina, the legislatures are elected biennially.

The Iowa republican state convention to select delegates to the republican national convention is now in session at Des Moines. Of the 945 delegates constituting the convention, all are for Allison. Two little incidents connected with the convention are worthy of mention. J. B. Welch, for years a greenback leader in Davis county, the home of Gen. Weaver, went back to the republican fold and bends the delegation of that county. H. S. Wilcox, of Des Moines, of similar political antecedents, did the same thing in Polk county, and is in the delegation. Indications point to the disappearance of the union labor party from Iowa politics.

Secretary Vilas has requested Attorney-General Garland to sue for the cancellation of patents issued to forty-two quarter sections of land near Pueblo, Colo., which are now the property of the Colorado Coal and Iron Company, upon the ground that the entries were fraudulently made. It is alleged that the land, which contains valuable mineral deposits, was patented as agricultural land and afterwards transferred to the company. The New York Times says that a similar case, involving the same question has already been tried before the supreme court and decided against the government. It therefore asks why this suit is brought. The correct answer probably is that it is brought to make show, on the part of the administration of zeal for the public welfare, political capital being the end in view.

It is a well known fact, says the New York Tribune, that discrepancies between laws in different states on the same subjects continually lead to confusion and not infrequently to real hardship. Therefore, any serious attempt to make such laws uniform is pretty sure to be regarded favorably. Especially is this the case when an effort in this direction has the approval of such men as ex-Judge Davis, ex-Surrogate Rollins, ex-Judge Dillon, General Swayne and other leading lawyers. A bill providing for the appointment of a commission to consider the matter and determine the advisability of moving the co-operation of other states has been brought forward at Albany by Senator Van Cott. There is no politics in it, but that ought not to prevent it from receiving due consideration. The propriety of interstate action to bring about harmony in laws relating to marriage and divorce, bankruptcy, etc., must be apparent. New York may very properly take the lead in this movement.

The late Rev. Dr. W. H. Ryder, of Chicago, who was one of the most eloquent and distinguished ministers of the Universalist denomination in this country, left an estate of the estimated value of $750,000. By his will he has distributed this considerable fortune in a way to illustrate his well-known benevolence and generosity. His sole heirs are his widow and one daughter, who are amply provided for by the provisions of the will, and the remainder of the estate is bequeathed to denominational churches and educational and charitable institutions as follows: First Universalist society, of Provincetown, Mass., $30,000; St. Paul's church, Chicago, $10,000; Lombard university, of Galesburg, $20,000; Old People's home, Chicago, $10,000; hospital for women and children, $10,000; Chicago public library, $10,000; Universalist's convention, New York, $25,000; and $10,000 to provide for free moral lectures in Chicago.

Some idea of the magnitude of the great snow blockade in New York city may be obtained by reading the following from the New York Tribune: "On the whole, the city of New York has risen from its snowy burial as quickly and in quite as good form as could be expected. It was possible to calculate the loss, public and private, which the blizzard inflicted, the figures would be exceedingly interesting. Some idea of their startling amount can be formed from the fact that the city has paid out $10,000 a day simply for the labor employed in shoveling up and carting off the snow.

TATE ROBS THE STATE.

Heavy Defalcation by the State Treasurer of Kentucky.

A LARGE AMOUNT OF MONEY GONE.

After holding the office for twenty years "Honest Dick Tate" has been found to have been a heavy defaulter. The discovery of his fraud was made by the legislature of Kentucky, which has just adjourned. Tate, who was state treasurer of Kentucky, is reported to be a defaulter to the amount of $150,000 and to have fled the state. Tate, who has been state treasurer of Kentucky continuously for twenty-one years, has until now been regarded as "the cent of honor" among the Kentucky democrats.

The following report of the condition of winter wheat at this time is far from satisfactory, though it is too early to determine the full injury to the crop. For some weeks past the fields in Ohio, Iowa, and southern Michigan have been bare of snow and subject to repeated freezing and thawing. In Wisconsin and northern Michigan the fields are still protected by snow and are presumably taking no injury. In Kansas alone conditions are reported fairly good, the plant having suffered very little injury from the winter, and under favorable weather conditions is now beginning to grow. Averaging the reports of about one thousand correspondents on the present condition as compared with average years, we have the following percentages of condition by states at this time: Ohio, 75 per cent; Indiana, 75 per cent; Kansas, 90 per cent; Illinois, 82 per cent; Missouri, 80 per cent; Kentucky, 75 per cent; Wisconsin, 93 per cent, and Michigan, 77 per cent.

WORK OF THE IOWA LEGISLATURE.

The Railway Bill Occupies the Day in the Senate—House Proceedings.

Des Moines, Ia., March 21.—The Senate spent the entire day on the Railway Bill. Section 22, authorizing the Railway Commissioners to require annual reports from common carriers, showing in detail the amount of capital stock issued, the amount paid therefor, dividends paid, surplus fund, if any, amount of stockholders' interest, the funded and floating debt and the interest paid thereon, the cost and value of the carrier's property, franchises and equipment, and all matters pertaining to their financial condition, was passed without amendment. Section 23, providing for a fair and reasonable rate in passenger and freight traffic, was passed after a lengthy debate. The amendment "unjust" where it qualified "discrimination" was rejected. The next section takes up the question of the longer and shorter haul, and on motion of Senator Scott the words "the same or less" were stricken out of the bill, thus prohibiting only a greater charge for the longer haul.

WINDMILL AT A DISCOUNT.

The Wind Blows Things Lively for Janesville.

Dignified men and matrons as they came down town this morning appeared like yachts under full sail. One of the ladies who learned to handle a sail boat while at Monona last summer found that a knowledge of yachting wasn't such a bad thing to have either. She was standing on the corner of Court and Main streets and was anxious to reach the postoffice, but the wind seemed determined to interfere.

"Now I'll just tack across to that interesting post," she soliloquized, "and make a run to leeward from there to one of those downways. Then I'll best up into the wind again, and if I can only grab that telephone pole I'll be all right. When I get to Milwaukee street I can go right along before the wind and make better time even than we used to at Madison."

It got so before afternoon that anybody who wished to go against the wind had to try some such tactics as these or run the risk of being lifted up and carried into the town of Rock. Prominent outposts put in their time chasing runaway hals up and down the street car tracks; and the profanity that resulted must have made Mephistopheles smile right cheerily.

One thing accomplished by the wind was the breaking of the fire alarm wire. The break was made about two o'clock. Notice was at once given by the gong in the engine house, and a man was sent out to make the necessary repairs.

CLAIMS HE WAS DECEASED.

C. S. Felton, of this city, began suit against parties in Milwaukee.

Charles S. Felton, of this city, has brought suit against E. C. Hopkins and G. A. West, of Milwaukee, to secure an accounting of transactions by a mining stock pool.

The Sentinel this morning says: "Felton pooled some shares of stock with the two defendants in April, 1887, for the purpose of bartering the stocks for real estate. Felton and West put in 9,000 shares, and the former alleges that the stock was exchanged for valuable Chicago real estate, but which was deeded to the wives of Hopkins and West, by a conspiracy between the two, to defraud him."

THEY WANT FILLERS.

Tobacco Dealers Looking Around for Cheap Stock.

Most of the smoke since last reports have been of filling and cutting stock. Among the largest purchasers were Baines, Heddles & Co. This firm is in the market for all the fillers—old or new that can be brought to its doors. The prices paid are from one to two cents.

Wrappers and binders of '83 and '84 are moving slowly at from five to seven cents. One carload was sent to Cincinnati parties by Baines, Heddles & Co. for 5 1/2 cents.

In Pennsylvania, Ohio and around Baltimore, New York, last matters are active. The Connecticut Valley, on the contrary, is completely snowed under; while the one case of tobacco which made up the sum total of sales in New York city for three days was escorted through six foot snow drifts by a procession of forty-five brokers.

OSTIARY.

MRS. ANGELINA CONNING WELLS.

Died, in this city, March 18, 1888, Mrs. Angelina Wells, aged 74 years and 8 months, of complication of pneumonia and consumption.
